

Listed below are the results of our dogs that we have bred or purchased from other breeders. We continually test and post results as we receive them. Please feel free to ask for a paper copy on any of our dogs.

Brief explanation of results:

NORMAL: This dog has tested normal (or clear) for the mutation identified as responsible for development of DCM. It is not at risk for developing this form of DCM. It can only transmit a normal gene to offspring, and current information indicates that dogs with this result can be bred to a dog with any test result without risk of producing affected offspring.

CARRIER: This dog has tested as a carrier for the mutation identified as responsible for development of DCM. Carrier individuals are clinically normal, but may transmit either a normal gene or a mutated/affected gene to potential offspring. To avoid risk of producing an affected puppy, these dogs should only be bred to mates which have been DNA-tested normal.

AFFECTED/AT RISK: This dog has 2 mutated copies of the gene identified as responsible for development of DCM and is at risk for developing clinical symptoms of DCM, usually at about 10 months to 2-1/2 years of age. Once clinical signs appear, most affected dogs do not survive very long. Please contact our research team using the contact information in signature below for additional information, and inclusion in ongoing clinical research.

This disease sometimes does not show itself until later in your dog's life — almost always before age 3 or 4 years. This test is available to anyone. All breeders should be testing their breeding dogs along with other health certifications.
